Do Britons think key measures from the 2025 Spending Review are the right or wrong spending priorities?

This week the Chancellor Rachel Reeves set out the Government's spending reviews. Below are some of the areas where she announced significant new spending. In each cause, please say whether you think it was the right or wrong area to prioritise for spending? %

Increasing funding for the NHS

Repairing more affordable homes and homes for social rent

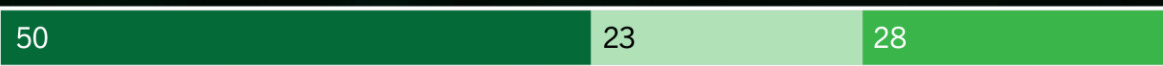

Building more affordable homes and homes for social rent

Increasing the number of prison places

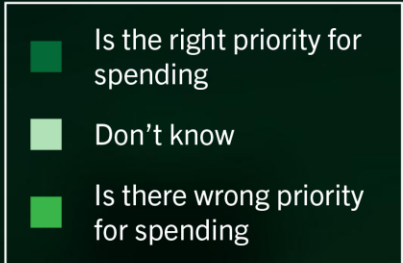

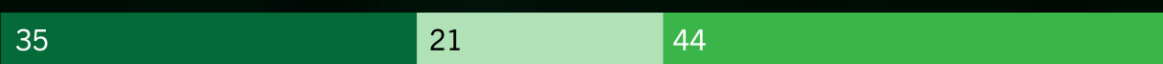

Expanding nuclear power, including building the new Sizewell C and investing in smaller modular power stations

Increasing investment in science and technology, including AI development

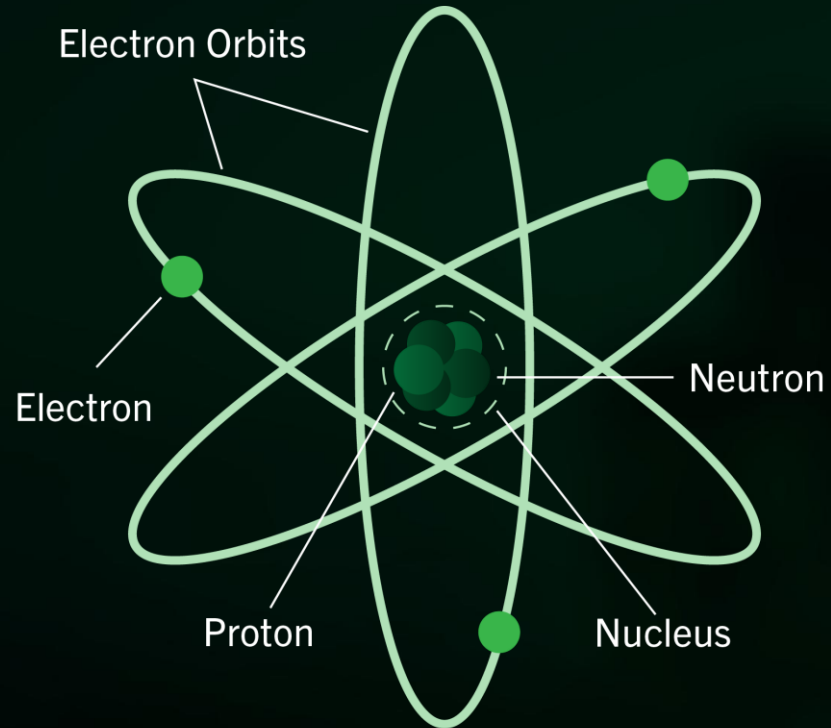

Expanding railways, including a new line between Milton Keynes, Oxford and Cambridge and TransPennine rail links
